BETHEL AND VICINITY

A surprise party was given Mary Lou Chapman Saturday in honor of her 12th birthday. Fourteen boys and girls were present and enjoyed a skating party through the afternoon after which sandwiches, cocoa and birthday cake were served at home.

Mrs. Bert Brown was given a surprise party in honor of her birthday Friday evening by her daughter, Mrs. Hert Grover, and Mrs. James Croteau at Mrs. Grover's home. Whist was enjoyed during the evening with prizes for high score going to Mrs. Leroy Bean and Jack Compass. Mrs. Elmer and Edward Poole received the consolation prizes.

DR. F. E. HANSCOM HEADS BETHEL NATIONAL BANK

Dr. Frank E. Hanscom, Principal Emeritus of Gould Academy, was elected president of the Board of Directors of the Bethel National Bank at the annual meeting Jan. 9. He has been a member of the board many years, and for several has served as vice-president.

BETHEL PEOPLE GENEROUS IN FINNISH RELIEF CAMPAIGN

The local campaign for Finnish Relief funds is now under way, and will continue until the end of the week. The canvass is conducted by members of the Boy Scout troop, each being allotted definite territory. Those who have completed their sections report liberal support.

For the benefit of those who are not solicited, boxes for contributions will be placed in several stores Friday and Saturday, or money may be sent to or left at the Citizen office.

RAIL TRAFFIC TWICE INTERRUPTED

Traffic on the Grand Trunk at West Paris was held up several hours Monday afternoon and evening when trucks on a car in a 118-car, double-header, east-bound freight train broke between West Paris and South Paris. The majority of the cars were empties, and as the accident occurred on a curve, it was considered remarkable that none of the cars left the rails.

On Wednesday 10 loaded coal cars left the track at Gilead between the station and the east switch. The derailment was caused by a broken arch bar. The location of the mishap was fortunate as during the process of repair traffic continued as usual on the passing siding.

REGIONAL DEVELOPMENT GROUP TO PROMOTE COUNTY'S ATTRACTIONS

Over 30 men from the central section of the County met at Bethel Inn Sunday in the third get-together on the formation of an organization to promote the recreational, industrial, and residential advantages in Oxford County.

The slogan and name which has been adopted for all advertising purposes is "Enjoy Year Round Thrills Among the Oxford Hills." There will be a great deal of stress laid on the development of the summer business in this section. However, winter sports will perhaps follow and indirectly it may be possible to attract some attention along the industrial lines.

The following towns have thus far shown an interest in the plan: Norway, Bethel, South Paris, West Paris, Oxford, Waterford, Lovell, and Harrison.

At a previous meeting the following officers were elected:

President — Arthur E. Walker, Oxford
Vice-President — Kenneth R. Wiles, Norway
Secretary—Robert W. Goodwin, Norway
Treasurer Harry M Shaw, So. Paris

The Executive Council is composed of Earl Brown, Waterford; Principal R L. Hunt, Hebron; Stanley Pratt, Oxford; Hubert E. Westfall, Bethel; Alden Chase, Bryant Pond; Lester Tebbets, Locke Mills, George Eastman and Stanley Perham, Town of Paris; Kenneth Wiles, Norway; and Frank Bean, Otisfield.

The next meeting will be held at South Paris Jan 14

N. WATERFORD MAN NEARLY SEVERS HAND, SAWING WOOD

Will Bird of North Waterford was rushed to the C. M. G. Hospital, Lewiston, Wednesday. He nearly severed his left hand near the base of the fingers. It was believed that the hand might be saved.

The accident occurred when the back of his hand contacted a circular saw while he was sawing wood at the home of Charles Hersey.

It is believed that Bird will be in the hospital at least three weeks.

BETHEL AND VICINITY

Mrs. Constance Alger returned to New York Friday after spending several days with friends in town.

Mr. and Mrs. George Dresser and Lawrence Mack of Norway were at Sadie Allen's for dinner Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B Chapman, Rodney Eames and Mrs. Harold Eames were in Lewiston last Friday.

Mrs. Pete Westleigh and son Reginald of West Bethel were visitors at Mrs. Florence Gill's one day last week.

Miss Harriet Merrill left Monday morning for a few weeks visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs F. L. Merrill, in Grand Rapids, Mich.

Mrs Kenneth Burgess and Miss Natalie Burgess of Sanford are spending a few days this week with Mrs. Burgess' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Crouse.

Friends of Frank Brown were glad to see him in town Saturday. He has made good recovery from injuries received when his car overturned in Poland while on his way here from his home in South Portland last month.

1939 IN BETHEL

The past year was not one of any spectacular progress for Bethel, but certainly no backward steps were taken.

During the year the new boys' dormitory at Gould Academy, Holden Hall, was completed, dedicated, and began a long period of useful service. Here also the girls' dormitory, the Marian True Gehring Students' Home, was entirely rebuilt, inside, and now is modernized and fireproof. This construction, with the extensive grounds improvements, kept a large crew busy for nearly a year and a half.

New telephone cable was installed on upper Main Street and parts of Broad and Church Streets. New rock ballast made its appearance in the Grand Trunk yard. Construction of new homes was begun or completed, especially on the Middle Intervale road, where three modern residences are seen, the homes of Ernest Blake, Richard Davis, and Roger Foster. Other residences were improved, insulated and renovated.

Local road improvement continued, with tar surfaced roads increasing. Perhaps the greatest benefit to Bethel and its outlying territory is the completion of the road in Albany toward Lynchville, where there is now one of the best roads in the section. Equally appreciated is the new construction from the Bethel town line through Locke Mills village, and continuing across the pond to eliminate the curves at Johnny's Bridge.

Mills have been busy and logging is perhaps at its high point for some time. Hard wood and pine are trucked long distances to mills, while fleets of trucks have been busy with the pulp and mill wood.

TYLER TO SEEK NOMINATION FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER

Nomination papers of Fritz J. Tyler of Bethel, for Republican candidacy as County Commissioner, are now in circulation. Mr. Tyler made his entry in politics two years ago, seeking the same position. He is assured of good support in his home section, and feels that this vicinity is entitled to representation in its County government.

WEST BETHEL MEN SURVIVE CRASH

Herman Bennett and Clarence Rolfe were very fortunate in escaping serious injury Friday when on an icy stretch of the Gilead-Hastings highway their car left the road and plunged 40 feet to Wild River. Injuries were confined to a hurt finger, received by Mr. Bennett, and a head injury by Mr. Rolfe. The accident occurred near the junction of Lary Brook with Wild River.

Although the car was damaged beyond repair, it was driven down the river on the ice half a mile by Clarence Bennett to a point where it could be towed by a tractor.

BETHEL GRANGE

Bethel Grange held a special meeting Tuesday, Jan. 9. The first and second degrees were conferred upon Bessie M. Bean and Henry W. Boyker.

At the next regular meeting the Men's and Women's Degree Teams from West Paris Grange will confer the third and fourth degrees unless stormy weather prevents them from coming.

GOULD 53 - FRYEBURG 31

Gould Academy started strong in the first period to gain a 13 to 2 advantage as the period ended. The second period was a nip-and-tuck affair with the locals barely holding their own as the visitors came to life to score 12 points while the winners scored 13 thus making the score at the half-way mark 26-14.

After the rest period the "blue and gold" again increased their lead to easily put the game on ice. The winners had control throughout the game but even at that the playing of the local team was far below that of the earlier games. Only at times did they show the passing attack and the defensive strength that they produced earlier in the season. Palmer with 22 points and Wentzel with 12 led the scoring for Gould while Gillin and Hamlin, Fryeburg forwards, led for the visitors with 10 and 7 respectively.

In the preliminary game the Gould Second team, led by Bull with eight points and Amato with five, easily walked off with a 23-8 victory.

FAMILY OF JOHN SWAN AROUSED BY FLAMES —TWO BADLY BURNED

The family of Mr. and Mrs. John Swan narrowly escaped death by fire early Sunday morning, when their home, the former Althea Robertson place at South Bethel, was burned to the ground. The buildings were owned by Frank Stevens. In making their escape Roscoe Swan, Mr. Swan's father, and Orrie Bachelder, Mrs. Swan's son, suffered severe burns on the head and hands. Mr. and Mrs. Swan and her sons, George and Ornel Bachelder, received comparatively slight cuts and bruises.

The fire evidently started from some unknown cause in a back room, and when the family was awakened by the flames escape was very difficult. No clothing or home furnishings of any kind were saved. An automobile in a building at the rear was removed before the fire reached that part of the buildings. There was no insurance.

Due to delay in calling the fire department, the pumper and crew arrived barely in time to save the stable of the nearby residence, occupied by Merl Hinkley and family. Water from the booster tank was used to good effect until the crew had chopped an opening in the ice of Alder River and secured an excellent water supply.

The people of Bethel and Locke Mills have been most generous in clothing, furnishings and money to the stricken family. Mrs. Swan has engaged the place formerly occupied by Frank Harthorne and family near the site of the burned buildings and will move there soon.

JACKSON-SILVER UNIT. No. 68

The regular meeting of the Unit Friday evening, Jan. 5 was well attended: Of unusual interest was the report of the chairman of the Christmas work, Mrs. Roy Morgan. In spite of the fact that this Unit has only thirty-three townships and the majority of the committee traveled eleven miles to attend meetings, the Christmas credits amounted to $92.66 which were divided as follows: clothing, $51.74; bedding, $17.18; baskets, $1.98; children's tree, $13.76 and the community trees, $8.00. It would also be very interesting to know the mileage covered to accomplish the above. Assistants were Evelyn Barrett, Mildred Cummings and Fannie Cummings.

Jackson-Silver Unit has tied the Dixfield Auxiliary for the award of $2.50, offered by Miss Mary Dumas, to the first Unit in the second District to reach their quota of members. Both Units accomplished this Oct. 31, 1939.

This Auxiliary has again won the National and State membership Citations for attaining their quota by Dec. 31, 1939.

Our young guest of the evening was Miss Elsie Redman of Bryant Pond. Edith Littlefield was reported sick.

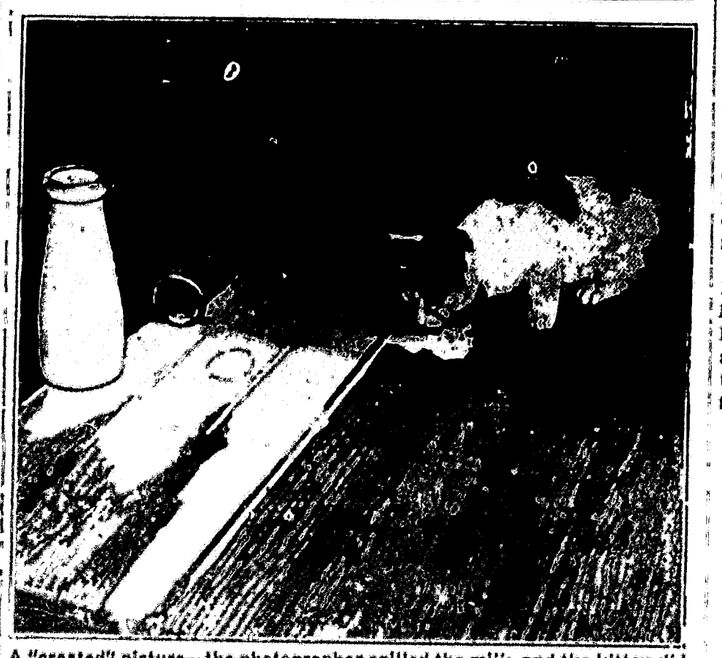
CREATING PICTURE CHANCES



A "created" picture—the photographer spilled the milk, and the kitten did the rest. Develop natural situations to get more interesting shots.

IT'S fun to look for picture opportunities—but it's more fun to create them. And many of the finest picture chances are created deliberately by the photographer.

If you wait for things to arrange themselves for a picture, you're just trusting to luck, and you may have a long wait. But if you take a few steps to create a situation, you'll find it easier to get just the picture you want—when you want it.

For example, look at the picture above. Is there any point in waiting for such a situation to occur naturally? Not a bit. It's much simpler to spill the milk right where you want it—place the kitten where you wish—and shoot. A kitten knows what to do when he's face to face with milk.

There are many such occasions where a little arrangement is a big help. Use a bait to tempt a pet to the spot for a picture. Give the baby an amusing toy—or place an automatic music-box beside him—and he'll pose, completely unaware of the camera. Provide some action for an older child to carry out—a doll to dress, a book to read, a model boat to work on. The action provides a theme or story which improves the picture.

In shooting outdoor scenes or landscape pictures, try having a friend stand in the foreground, looking at the scene you plan to picture. Such a figure adds foreground interest, and directs attention to the scene beyond. In picturing snow scenes, tramp out a path leading into the scene where it will help the composition of the picture. Such devices often add better pictorial quality to your shots.

In taking action shots, don't trust to chance. If possible, arrange with your subject to have the desired action take place at a chosen spot. Then you can focus in advance, and be all ready to shoot. For example, to get a good shot of a sled spill, arrange for Johnny to flip his sled over at a selected spot near the bottom of the hill. This idea also works for many other sports—summer and winter.

Table-top photography is of course outright creation—you build the subject completely before shooting it. That's why "table-topping" is so much fun—it allows plenty of room for imagination and originality. Still-life pictures are also a matter of arrangement . . . and your skill in composing the subject-matter determines the quality of the picture.

Never be a lazy photographer. Don't "let well enough alone." Always try to improve the picture—or, get a first shot of the subject as it is, and then try to arrange a better one. That's the way the finest pictures are made.

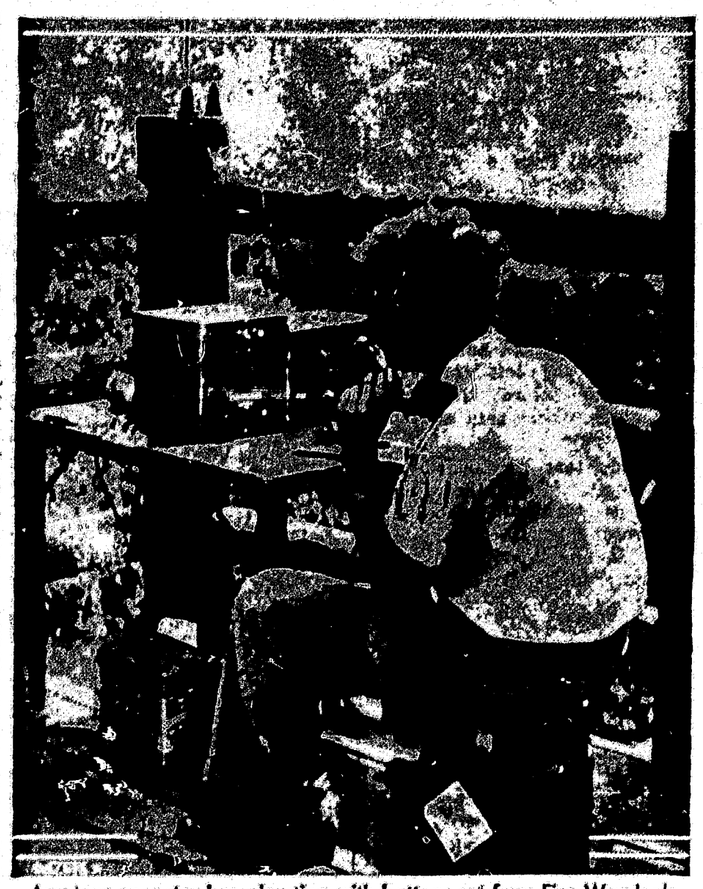
Fifty Children Saved From Fire By Radio "Hams" When Phones Fail



Amateur operator broadcasting with battery set from Fire Warden's lookout on mountaintop.

Fifty children from Camp Wanzer, tuberculosis hospital in the Black Hills of South Dakota, were rescued from the path of one of the most devastating forest fires in the history of that section when amateur radio operators established communication throughout the threatened area after telephone lines had failed. Citizens of several towns were warned to be ready to flee at a moment's notice, and instructions to the entire fire fighting staff were handled by radio.

The fire, fanned by a 50-mile wind, quickly developed into a "crown" blaze, racing from tree-top to tree-top and overnight threatening several mining towns. While it was at its height, amateur stations operated at hot spots in the lines, handling all traffic relating to rescue operations and movements of fire-fighters and equipment. After the conflagration had been brought under control, the radio workers moved their sets up to mountain peaks where large areas could be surveyed and watched for new outbreaks.

Amateur operators who worked during the fire are members of a radio relay communication system that covers the entire country and extends into the most remote rural areas. Often working with sending and receiving rigs that are equipped with air cell and layerbilt batteries, these operators are trained for emergencies and have frequently provided the only means of communication in stricken areas. Throughout the week of the fire, the Black Hills amateurs worked with battery sets.

During the fire, the wind shifted constantly, making the direction of the blaze uncertain from hour to hour. Under such conditions, efficient communication was essential to help prevent the trapping of the fighting forces. Approximately 1,100 messages were handled by amateur operators before the fire was brought under control and regular communication facilities restored.

ED LIKED bridge, Barbara liked to read. But Barbara was a this year's model wife and she eagerly perfected herself in the games until Ed might be proud of her.

On odd Thursday nights, however, when Ed went to the meeting of the Exalted Elephants of Englewood (they had started their married life in Englewood a year before) Barbara smeared cold cream on her face and neck, had tea and toast and jam for dinner and settled down comfortably with the latest detective novel. By two in the morning when Ed returned across the city Barbara was usually sitting wide-eyed and sleepless lest in some way she be a murder victim like the hero or heroine in the tale she had read.

"I called you up," Ed said one Thursday night, or rather Friday morning, "and you didn't answer the telephone. I thought maybe you'd forgotten your book and had gone to the movies with Stella."

"I just guess not," Barbara said decidedly. "I get only one night a week to read, and I'm not going to waste that chattering over the telephone with anybody."

"You mean to say you deliberately didn't answer the phone?"

"That's just exactly what I mean," she laughed, dimples dancing in and out of her firm cheeks. "Neither did I answer the door."

"Bah!" said Ed. "You sound like a Wednesday night book review. Give me people—real, live, talking folks—any time rather than a book written at so much a word!"

"I'll give you nothing," laughed Barbara merrily, "nothing except a request for a new fur coat or maybe a new car."

It got so that people would telephone on odd Thursdays just to see whether or not Babs would answer that telephone. It was useless, though. Within the apartment Babs, grinning at the telephone like the rascally little modern that she was, sat cold-creamy and blissful with the latest detective thriller in her hands.

Then came the Thursday night, Ed opened the front door with his key and stepped inside to find Babs sitting on the floor near the door.

"I guess," she said unsteadily; "I guess I've killed a man. They'll probably hang me, Eddie dear, unless you can get me that new fur coat and some spiffy clothes to impress the jury of my innocence. I—I—I've k-k-k-killed a man!"

And Babs was old-fashioned enough to faint at that moment right into Ed's arms. He saw the man stretched out on their one and only Persian hall runner—an ugly gash in his chin where Babs had evidently hit him with something or other.

"You see," Babs explained while they were waiting for the police, "the telephone kept ringing and ringing, but I kept on reading my book and didn't answer it. When I got to the third murder, though, I got kind of a scary feeling and I reached over to the writing-desk and picked up that heavy ink-stand that Aunt Orinda gave us for a wedding gift. I thought if any one tried to murder me I'd throw that at him."

Here she stopped and shivered as the man on the floor stirred slightly.

"Maybe—maybe he's not dead after all," she whispered. "Oh—I've killed a man—"

"Where did the ink well hit him?" Ed said practically.

"Why," Babs went on, after the [illegible] time phone or door, ink-well in lap—"

"Bah!" giggled Babs. "You sound like a Wednesday night book review!"

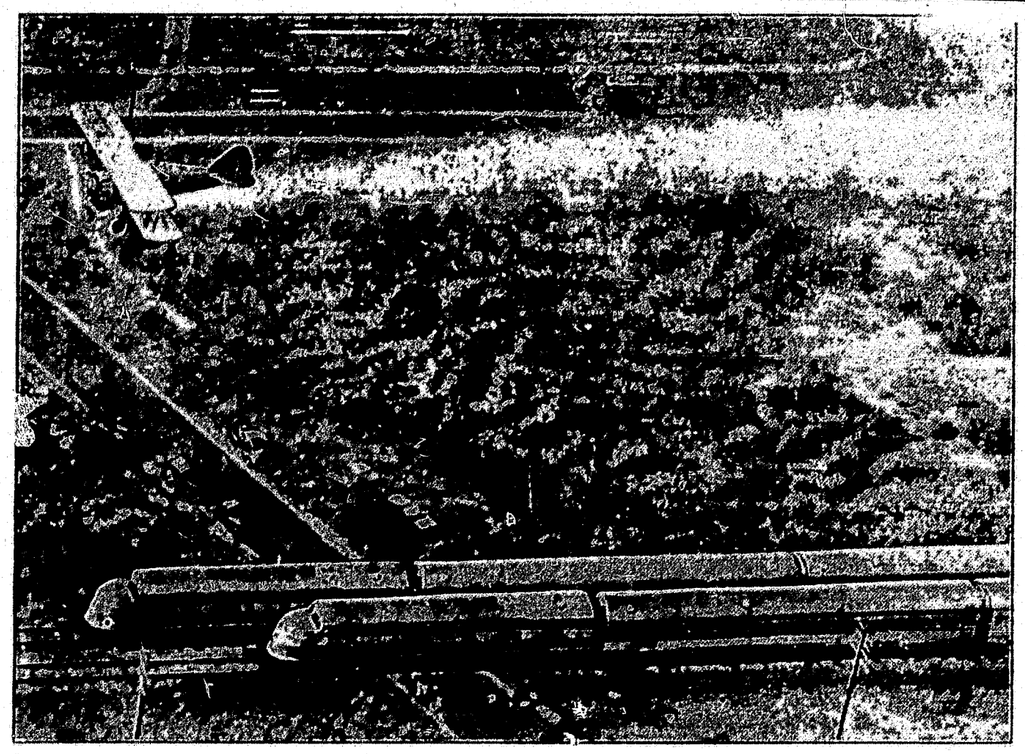
An Aerial Salute to the Newest in Streamliners



A SPECTACULAR aerial smoke screen salute to two of America's newest stainless steel trains, built by the Edward G. Budd Manufacturing Company in Philadelphia, as they parade into Miami, side by side on their inaugural run. The Atlantic Coast Line's "Champion," making a scheduled 25-hour daily run from New York to Miami and the Florida East Coast's "Henry M. Flagler," scheduled for a daily, six-and-a-quarter hour run from Jacksonville to Miami and return, complement the fleet of Budd-built, light weight trains which give Florida the most complete daily high-speed train service in any section of the country.

THOMAS F. VASHAW

Born Oct. 24, 1878; died Jan 2, 1940

The subject of this sketch was the son of Dennis and Mary Wheeler Vashaw of Milan, N. H.

From boyhood he had always loved the woods and at an early age, scarcely 13 years old, he began to work for the Brown Co. of Berlin, N. H., and continued in their employment until his death.

His knowledge of woods lore, and as he grew older, his understanding of a crew of men and ability to handle them made him a valuable man to the Company.

He was in camp at some one of their logging locations when stricken with the illness that proved fatal to him. Taken to the hospital at Berlin, everything possible for his recovery was done but in vain, and on Jan. 2, 1940, he went on the last trail that leads to the "Land Beautiful."

Mr. Vashaw had been married three times. His first wife was Miss Sadie Scribner of West Bethel, to whom he was married in August 1897. She died Oct. 17, 1928, from injuries received in an automobile accident. They had lived for a number of years at West Bethel and in Mayville, but at the time of her death their home was in Berlin. After some years he married Mrs. Maude Vashaw of Bethel, whose death occurred Feb. 26, 1938. Aug. 16, 1939, he married Mrs. Elizabeth Flanders of Bethel, who survives. He also leaves one adopted daughter, Eloise, the wife of Clifton Palmer of Berlin, one brother, Michael Vashaw of Bethel, and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held at Greenleaf's funeral home Jan. 4, Father Conoly of Hebron officiating. The bearers were men from the Brown Co., for whom he had worked 46 years. Burial was at Pine Grove Cemetery, West Bethel. "As children enter Life without knowledge or intent
So all must enter unto death like little children sent—
But—
God knows when loved ones falter
And pause by the wayside to rest,
It is then in compassion he takes them;
We must trust for God knoweth best.
When in sadness, sorrow and sickness
Towards death's portals they sweep,
Oh! so gently he carries each loved one
Home, as he lulls them to sleep."

Bethel, January, 1940.

MRS. KIMBALL AMES

Mr. Ames is an insurance broker in New York City.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Ames leaves a daughter, Margaret; her mother, Mrs. Carrie A. Griggs of the Maplewood address, and a brother, Herbert Griggs of Rockville Center, L. I.

Services were held at 8 p. m., Dec. 27 at the Colonial Home, 132 South Harrison Street, East Orange.
